1 I. INTRODUCTION.

2 Plaintiff Grey Duddleston (“Duddleston”) filed this action (a second time) with 3 co-plaintiff Samantha Suarez (“Suarez”) on March 24, 2025, alleging six causes of 4 action on his own behalf arising from his employment with Defendant Mountain View
5 Productions, LLC (“Mountain View”) as a camera operator on the popular unscripted
6 television show Below Deck Sailing Yacht (“BDSY”). However, none of Duddleston’s
7 claims against Mountain View or Defendants 51 Minds, LLC; 51 Minds Entertainment,
8 LLC; Endemol Shine US Office, LLC; or Endemol USA Holding, Inc. (collectively 9 with Mountain View, the “Endemol Defendants”) belong in court. Instead, they should 10 be submitted to binding arbitration—as Duddleston previously agreed.

11 In May 2022, prior to the alleged events underlying this action, Duddleston
12 executed an Arbitration Agreement (the “Agreement”) in which he agreed “to submit any 13 and all disputes arising out of, related to, or connected with [Duddleston’s] employment
14 with [Mountain View] (and its successors, predecessors, benefit plans, directors, officers, 15 employees, supervisors and agents), including the termination of such employment, 16 exclusively to final and binding arbitration.” Declaration of Zachary Klein (“Klein 17 Decl.”) ¶ 11 & Ex. A at 1. All of Duddleston’s causes of action in this lawsuit fall within 18 the scope of the bilateral Agreement. The Agreement, which Duddleston voluntarily 19 executed, is objectively reasonable and provides a fair and complete mechanism for 20 resolving disputes, including those pursuant to the statutes under which he has asserted
21 his claims in this lawsuit—i.e., the California Labor Code and California Fair
22 Employment and Housing Act (the “FEHA”), assuming that they apply to Duddleston’s 23 employment on a boat in the Mediterranean or in Italy where BDSY filmed. The 24 Agreement binds both sides to the same procedures and is neither procedurally nor 25 substantively unconscionable. The Supreme Court of the United States has emphasized
26 that the Federal Arbitration Act (the “FAA”)—which governs the Agreement—favors 27

1 arbitration and also preempts state-law rules that interfere with the parties' ability to 2 choose the efficiency of bilateral arbitration.

3 Duddleston is estopped from attempting to avoid arbitration against 51 Minds,
4 51ME, Endemol Shine, and Endemol USA (the "Nonsignatory Defendants") because 5 they were not signatories to the Agreement itself. All of Duddleston's claims arise out
6 of his employment, and Duddleston has alleged that the Nonsignatory Defendants were 7 his employer—directly or indirectly. Duddleston cannot avoid arbitration by naming 8 parties that were not signatories to his Agreement in connection with claims that 9 otherwise unquestionably would be subject to arbitration against his employer.

10 Nor can Duddleston avoid arbitration based on the fact that his (former)
11 girlfriend and co-plaintiff, Suarez, asserted a claim for sexual harassment. Duddleston's 12 own claims do not assert causes of action for sexual harassment or sexual assault under 13 federal, state or tribal law. Thus, the Ending Forced Arbitration of Sexual Assault and 14 Sexual Harassment Act ("EFAA") does not apply.

15 Accordingly, because Duddleston agreed that arbitration is the sole forum for the 16 resolution of his claims, the Endemol Defendants request the Court order Duddleston
17 to submit all his claims to arbitration and stay this action, as Duddleston previously 18 agreed to do.

19 II. FACTUAL BACKGROUND.

20 A. Duddleston Agreed To Arbitrate Any Employment-Related Claims 21 Arising Out Of His Employment On BDSY.

22 Duddleston worked for Mountain View as a production crew member and 23 camera operator. See Complaint ("Compl.") ¶ 16. On May 10, 2022, Duddleston
24 executed the Agreement, which detailed his express agreement to privately arbitrate all 25 disputes arising out of or related to his employment with Mountain View, pursuant to 26 the employment arbitration rules and procedures of the American Arbitration
27 Association ("AAA"). See Klein Decl. ¶ 11 & Ex. A at 1.

1 Specifically, at the time of Duddleston’s hire on BDSY in 2022, Mountain View
2 required that, as a condition of employment, all BDSY crew members, including 3 Duddleston, acknowledge and sign the Agreement prior to performing any work on the 4 BDSY production. Id. ¶ 7. Accordingly, Duddleston could not begin work on the BDSY
5 production in 2022 until he signed the Agreement. Id.

6 Cast & Crew LLC (“Cast & Crew”), the company that Mountain View used to 7 provide employer-of-record and payroll services for BDSY, sent an email to the 8 personal email address of each BDSY crew member, including Duddleston, containing 9 a link for the crew member to click to activate their Cast & Crew account. Id. ¶¶ 4, 8.
10 Cast & Crew sent this email to Duddleston’s personal email address, which is the email
11 address that Duddleston provided to Mountain View to use for all communications with 12 Duddleston relating to his employment on BDSY. Id. ¶ 8. Upon Duddleston clicking the 13 link in this email from Cast & Crew, Cast & Crew prompted Duddleston to create a 14 new, unique password known only to Duddleston. Id. Once Duddleston created the new 15 password, Cast & Crew directed him to sign in again using the new, unique password
16 for Duddleston to review and acknowledge the Agreement. Id. The Cast & Crew system
17 is secure and confidential; only an individual with Duddleston’s unique password could 18 access his account to review and sign the Agreement. Id. Because Duddleston’s new, 19 unique password was known only to him, only Duddleston could have accessed his 20 Cast & Crew account to access, review, and sign, the Agreement. Id.

21 The unique password that each Mountain View crew member, including 22 Duddleston, created to access their Cast & Crew account remained strictly confidential
23 and is unknown to Mountain View. Id. ¶ 9. If a BDSY crew member forgets their 24 password, neither Cast & Crew nor Mountain View has any way to retrieve or change
25 it. Id. Cast & Crew’s system can only manually “reset” the crew member’s account to 26 allow them to create a new password, just as if the crew member was a new user. Id.
27 Furthermore, since at least April 2022 through the present, neither Cast & Crew nor 28

1 Mountain View has had the ability to sign or acknowledge any documents—including,
2 without limitation, the New Hire Paperwork—on any crew member’s behalf. Id.

3 Mountain View emailed Duddleston the Agreement on April 11, 2022, and 4 Duddleston electronically signed the Agreement on May 10, 2022, using Cast & Crew’s
5 Start+ system. Id. ¶ 10.

6 B. In March 2025, Duddleston Sued The Endemol Defendants, Alleging
7 Claims Exclusively Subject To Arbitration.

8 On March 24, 2025, Duddleston and Suarez filed the Complaint in Los Angeles
9 County Superior Court, in which Duddleston alleges, in relevant part, that the Endemol
10 Defendants, along with NBCUniversal Media, LLC and Bravo Media LLC
11 (erroneously sued as “Bravo Media, LLC”), retaliated against him for reporting
12 unlawful conduct, failed to prevent retaliation, wrongfully terminated his employment, 13 and intentionally and negligently inflicted emotional distress upon him. See Compl.
14 ¶¶ 153–86, 197–221.¹ Suarez separately asserts causes of action on her own behalf for 15 alleged sexual assault and sexual harassment that she claims to have experienced at the 16 hands of one of BDSY’s cast members, Gary King (“King”); however, Duddleston does 17 not allege that he personally experienced any sexual assault or sexual harassment. See 18 id. ¶¶ 93–140 (emphasis added) (Complaint’s causes of action for battery, assault, 19 gender violence, and FEHA harassment alleged on behalf of Suarez only). The 20 Endemol Defendants removed this lawsuit to the U.S. District Court for the Central 21 District of California on April 22, 2025. See ECF No. 1.

22 Duddleston’s Agreement covers all the claims Duddleston asserts on his own
23 behalf in the Complaint, namely:

24 [C]laims arising under the California Labor Code, . . . civil tort and 25 employment discrimination (including claims brought under . . . the

26 ¹ Duddleston and Suarez had filed a prior identical action on February 25, 2025, which 27 the Endemol Defendants removed to federal court on February 28, 2025. See Suarez et
28 al v. NBCUniversal Media, LLC et al, Case No. 2:25-cv-1774 (C.D. Cal.), ECF No. 1
(Los Angeles County Superior Court Case No. 25STCV05281) (“Suarez I”).
Duddleston and Suarez voluntarily dismissed Suarez I on March 24, 2025. See id., ECF
No. 12.

California Fair Employment and Housing Act, . . . all as amended, and any other local, state or federal anti-discrimination or employment statute), and any other employment laws, except only claims which may not, by statute, be arbitrated.

Klein Decl. ¶ 11 & Ex. A at 1 (emphasis added).

C. The Endemol Defendants Informed Duddleston’s Counsel Of Duddleston’s Agreement To Arbitrate, But Duddleston Has Continued To Pursue This Lawsuit.

In an attempt to avoid needless litigation and motion practice, the Endemol Defendants’ Counsel notified Duddleston’s counsel that Duddleston had executed the Agreement. Declaration of Dixie M. Morrison ¶ 2. However, to date, Duddleston has not agreed to arbitrate his claims. Id.

III. THE COURT SHOULD COMPEL ARBITRATION OF ALL OF DUDDLESTON’S CLAIMS.

A. The FAA Requires Arbitration Of All Of Duddleston’s Claims.

1. The Federal Arbitration Act Governs The Agreement.

The Agreement is subject to the FAA. Notably, the parties acknowledged and agreed as much in the Agreement itself. See Klein Decl. ¶ 11 & Ex. A at 1–2 (“[T]he Federal Arbitration Act shall govern the interpretation and enforcement of, and all proceedings pursuant to, this Agreement.”). Yet, even in the absence of the above recitation, the FAA “compels judicial enforcement of a wide range of written arbitration agreements.” Circuit City Stores, Inc. v. Adams, 532 U.S. 105, 111 (2001). Section 2 of the FAA states:

A written provision in any . . . contract evidencing a transaction involving commerce to settle by arbitration a controversy thereafter arising out of such contract or transaction . . . shall be valid, irrevocable, and enforceable, save upon such grounds as exist at law or in equity for the revocation of any contract.

“Employment contracts, except for those covering workers engaged in transportation, are covered by the FAA.” E.E.O.C. v. Waffle House, Inc., 534 U.S. 279, 289 (2002); see also Evenskaas v. Cal. Transit, Inc., 81 Cal. App. 5th 285, 292 (2022)

(same). Specifically, the FAA’s reference to contracts “evidencing a transaction involving commerce,” 9 U.S.C. § 2, reflects Congress’s intent “to exercise [its] commerce power to the full” and simply requires that “the ‘transaction’ in fact ‘involve’ interstate commerce, even if the parties did not contemplate an interstate commerce connection.” Allied-Bruce Terminix Cos., Inc. v. Dobson, 513 U.S. 265, 277, 281 (1995) (cleaned up); see also Evenskaas, 81 Cal. App. 5th at 292 (citations omitted).

A minimal showing is required to demonstrate a “transaction involving commerce” under the FAA. See Citizens Bank v. Alafabco, Inc., 539 U.S. 52, 56–57 (2003) (citations omitted); Evenskaas, 81 Cal. App. 5th at 294 (same).

Here, the Agreement falls within the ambit of the FAA. Duddleston is a resident of Georgia, and his allegations in the Complaint concern events that allegedly took place overseas, in Sardinia, Italy and/or on a boat in the Mediterranean Sea. See Compl. ¶¶ 2, 16. Duddleston entered into the Agreement in connection with, as relevant to this lawsuit, his work as a camera operator on BDSY, a cable television show broadcast across the United States and internationally. Klein Decl. ¶ 6. Duddleston’s job duties as a camera operator included, among other duties, filming content for BDSY. See Compl. ¶ 13. Accordingly, his position involved interstate commerce. See, e.g., Hong v. CJ CGV Am. Holdings, Inc., 222 Cal. App. 4th 240, 250–51 (2013) (finding that contracts involving “a television network” with programming “directed” across the country “involve[d] interstate commerce); In re: Orchid Child Prods., LLC, 2024 WL 1740741, at *4 (Bankr. C.D. Cal. Apr. 22, 2024) (finding that a contract “for the making and distribution of [a] documentary film in interstate commerce” related to interstate commerce).²

Therefore, the FAA governs the Agreement.

2. The FAA Favors Arbitration.

The FAA reflects “a liberal federal policy favoring arbitration agreements,

² Furthermore, the parties expressly acknowledged in the Agreement that Duddleston “is engaged in transactions involving interstate commerce[.]” Klein Decl. ¶ 11 & Ex. A at 1.

1 notwithstanding any state substantive or procedural policies to the contrary.” AT&T
2 Mobility LLC v. Concepcion, 563 U.S. 333, 346 (2011) (quotation omitted); Evenskaas,
3 81 Cal. App. 5th at 291 (same); see also Malone v. Super. Ct., 226 Cal. App. 4th 1551,
4 1568 (2014) (finding that state unconscionability “rules must not facially discriminate
5 against arbitration and must be enforced evenhandedly”) (quotation omitted). Thus,
6 “federal courts must enforce the [FAA] with respect to all arbitration agreements covered
7 by that statute.” Marmet Health Care Ctr., Inc. v. Brown, 565 U.S. 530, 530–31 (2012)
8 (citations omitted); see also Epic Sys. Corp. v. Lewis, 584 U.S. 497, 506 (2018)
9 (“Congress require[d] courts to respect and enforce agreements to arbitrate . . .”).³

10 B. Duddleston’s Agreement, Which Encompasses All Of His Allegations
11 In His Complaint, Is Valid And Enforceable.

12 The FAA provides that arbitration agreements “shall be valid, irrevocable, and 13 enforceable, save upon such grounds as exist at law or in equity for the revocation of 14 any contract” 9 U.S.C. § 2. Within the context of this strong public policy, a court 15 must compel arbitration where it finds that (1) a valid arbitration agreement exists and 16 (2) “the agreement encompasses the dispute at issue.” Kilgore v. KeyBank, Nat’l Ass’n, 17 718 F. 3d 1052, 1058 (9th Cir. 2013) (quotations omitted); see also Phila. Indem. Ins.
18 Co. v. SMG Holdings, Inc., 44 Cal. App. 5th 834, 840 (2019) (same). Both prerequisites
19 are satisfied here.

20 1. Duddleston Executed A Valid Agreement To Arbitrate.

21 Duddleston unquestionably assented to the Agreement on May 10, 2022, which 22 he executed electronically. Under California law, a valid contract exists when (1) the 23 parties are capable of contracting, and there is (2) a lawful object, (3) mutual consent, 24

26 ³ California state courts generally have applied principles favoring arbitration as well.
27 See generally Harris v. TAP Worldwide, LLC, 248 Cal. App. 4th 373, 380 (2016)
28 (“California law favors enforcement of valid arbitration agreements.”); Molecular Analytical Sys. v. Ciphergen Biosystems, Inc., 186 Cal. App. 4th 696, 704 (2010)
 (“[T]here is a strong public policy favoring contractual arbitration.”).

1 and (4) sufficient cause or consideration. See Cal. Civ. Code § 1550. Each of these 2 requirements is satisfied here.

3 First, there is no dispute Duddleston and Mountain View were capable of 4 contracting. See Cal. Civ. Code § 1556 (“All persons are capable of contracting, except 5 minors, persons of unsound mind, and persons deprived of civil rights.”).

6 Second, the Agreement plainly has a lawful purpose: the prompt and efficient
7 resolution of employment-related disputes. See Villasenor v. Dollar Tree Distrib, Inc., 8 2024 WL 4452853, at *5 (C.D. Cal. Aug. 6, 2024) (“[R]esolution of disputes through 9 arbitration is a ‘lawful object.’”) (citations omitted).

10 Third, both parties consented to the Agreement. As explained above, 11 Duddleston electronically assented to the Agreement. Under California law, “an 12 electronic signature has the same legal effect as a handwritten signature.” Espejo v. S.
13 Cal. Permanente Med. Grp., 246 Cal. App. 4th 1047, 1061 (quotations omitted); see 14 also Cal. Civ. Code § 1633.7(a); id. at § 1633.9(a).

15 Accordingly, courts consistently hold that clicking a button on a computer screen
16 is a valid form of electronic signature. See, e.g., Espejo, 246 Cal. App. 4th at 1062–63
17 (enforcing arbitration agreement accepted by electronic signature); White v. Conduent
18 Commercial Sols., LLC, 2024 WL 4373847, at *9 (E.D. Cal. Oct. 2, 2024) (enforcing 19 arbitration agreement where the signature process included “the offeree . . . click[ing]
20 a button acknowledging her agreement”). Mountain View’s electronic records
21 memorializing Duddleston’s assent to the terms of the Agreement demonstrate that 22 Duddleston reviewed and electronically signed his name to the Agreement on May 10, 23 2022. See Klein Decl. ¶¶ 7–10.

24 Finally, the consideration for an arbitration agreement is legally adequate where,
25 as here, each party agrees to be bound by the arbitration process. See Armendariz v.
26 Found. Health Psychcare Servs., 24 Cal. 4th 83, 118 (2000); see generally Cal. Civ.
27 Code § 1550(4).
28

2. The Agreement Covers All Of Duddleston’s Claims.

The Agreement broadly covers “any and all disputes arising out of, related to, or connected with [Duddleston’s] employment with [Mountain View] . . . including the termination of such employment[.]” Klein Decl. ¶ 11 & Ex. A at 1 (emphasis added); see also id. (Covered disputes “include[e], but [are] not limited to . . . claims arising under the California Labor Code, . . . civil tort and employment discrimination (including claims brought under the California Fair Employment and Housing Act . . . and any other local, state or federal anti-discrimination or employment statute), and any other employment laws[.]”). The only claims not subject to arbitration are claims (1) for workers’ compensation or unemployment benefits; (2) under an employee benefit plan; (3) before the National Labor Relations Board, the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, or California Civil Rights Department (previously the Department of Fair Employment and Housing); and (4) “which parties are legally prohibited from submitting to arbitration” or “which may not, by statute, be arbitrated.” Id. at 1–2 (emphasis added).

None of the causes of action asserted in the Complaint falls within the subset of claims not subject to arbitration. Rather, all of Duddleston’s causes of action under the Labor Code and the FEHA indisputably are included in the definition of disputes covered by the Agreement. The same is true of Duddleston’s wrongful termination, intentional infliction of emotional distress (“IIED”), and negligent infliction of emotional distress (“NIED”) claims. See, e.g., Nelsen v. Legacy Partners Residential, Inc., 207 Cal. App. 4th 1115, 1136–37 (2012) (affirming order granting motion to compel to arbitration claims brought under the Labor Code); Peng v. First Republic Bank, 219 Cal. App. 4th 1462, 1465 (2013) (reversing denial of motion to compel arbitration claims for FEHA discrimination, wrongful termination, and IIED); Vianna v. Doctors’ Mgmt. Co., 27 Cal. App. 4th 1186, 1190 (1994) (same, for claims for wrongful termination and NIED).

Accordingly, all of Duddleston’s claims in the Complaint are subject to arbitration

1 under the Agreement. See O'Malley v. Wilshire Oil Co., 59 Cal. 2d 482, 491 (1963)
2 (citations omitted) (“[O]nly the most forceful evidence of a purpose to exclude the claim
3 from arbitration can prevail, particularly where, as here . . . the arbitration clause [is]
4 quite broad.’ . . . [T]he arbitration clause covers the grievance in the absence of manifest
5 exclusion.”); 24 Hour Fitness, Inc. v. Super. Ct., 66 Cal. App. 4th 1199, 1205 (1998)
6 (finding that arbitration agreement covering “any dispute arising from [plaintiff’s]
7 employment” included any claims based on factual allegations relating to employment).

8 3. The EFAA Is Irrelevant To Duddleston’s Agreement Or
9 Claims.

10 Based on meet-and-confer communications with Duddleston’s counsel, the 11 Endemol Defendants anticipate that Duddleston will argue that the Agreement is not 12 enforceable in this case due to the enactment of the EFAA, which amended the FAA to 13 permit signatories to an arbitration agreement to avoid arbitration at their election in 14 the case of sexual assault or sexual harassment disputes under federal, state, or tribal 15 law. However, whatever its application to Suarez, the EFAA is irrelevant to the claims 16 asserted by Duddleston and is not an impediment to arbitration.

17 Notably, Duddleston does not allege that he personally experienced sexual 18 harassment or assault. See Compl. ¶¶ 93–140 (Complaint’s causes of action for battery, 19 assault, gender violence, and FEHA harassment alleged on behalf of Suarez only).
20 Those claims are asserted exclusively by Suarez. Id. Accordingly, the EFAA does not 21 invalidate the Agreement as applied to Duddleston’s own claims.

22 Mera v. SA Hospitality Group, LLC, 675 F. Supp. 3d 442 (S.D.N.Y. 2023), is 23 instructive. In that case, the court found that the plaintiff’s complaint sufficiently 24 alleged sexual harassment as to himself. Id. at 446–47. The court nonetheless
25 compelled to arbitration claims that the plaintiff alleged on behalf of other individuals 26 who had not experienced the alleged sexual harassment that the plaintiff claimed he 27 personally experienced. See id. at 447 (finding that EFAA did not invalidate an 28

1 otherwise enforceable arbitration agreement as to “individuals having nothing to do
2 with the particular sexual harassment affecting the plaintiff alone”).⁴ The same result
3 is warranted here—i.e., whereas Suarez (who alleges she personally experienced sexual 4 harassment) can avoid arbitration, Duddleston (who does not allege he personally 5 experienced sexual harassment) cannot.

6 Accordingly, the EFAA does not invalidate Duddleston’s Agreement or its 7 applicability to his claims asserted in the Complaint.

8 4. Duddleston Is Equitably Estopped From Avoiding The 9 Nonsignatory Defendants’ Enforcement Of The Agreement.

10 Even though the Nonsignatory Defendants are not signatories to the Agreement,
11 Duddleston is estopped from evading the Agreement by suing the Nonsignatory
12 Defendants in court.

13 “[T]he equitable estoppel doctrine applies when a party has signed an arbitration
14 agreement but attempts to avoid arbitration by suing non-signatory defendants for claims
15 that are based on the same facts and are inherently inseparable from arbitrable claims
16 against signatory defendants.” Metalclad Corp. v. Ventana Envtl. Organizational P’ship, 17 109 Cal. App. 4th 1705, 1713 (2003) (quotations omitted). “Claims that rely upon, make 18 reference to, or are intertwined with claims under the subject contract are arbitrable.” Rowe
19 v. Exline, 153 Cal. App. 4th 1276, 1287 (2007) (citing Boucher v. All. Title Co., Inc., 127 20 Cal. App. 4th 262, 269–70 (2005)). To be inherently inseparable, “a claim ‘arising out of’
21 a contract does not itself need to be contractual.” Garcia v. Pexco, LLC, 11 Cal. App. 5th 22 782, 786 (2017).

23 Gonzalez v. Nowhere Beverly Hills LLC, 107 Cal. App. 5th 111 (2024), is 24 instructive. In that case, the court found that the moving defendants could compel the 25 plaintiff to arbitration even though (1) the movants were not signatories to the 26

27 ⁴ Due to the EFAA’s recent enactment (in 2021), few published decisions have 28 interpreted its provisions, and the Endemol Defendants have been unable to locate any cases within the Ninth Circuit addressing this particular issue.

1 arbitration agreement and (2) the plaintiff asserted only statutory claims (primarily 2 under the Labor Code). Because all of the plaintiff's claims "depend[ed] on the [non-
3 signatory defendants'] status as joint employers," the plaintiff's theory of liability
4 against the non-signatory defendants relied upon them being his joint employer:

5 Because Gonzalez agreed to arbitrate his wage and hour claims against [his 6 employer], and because his theory of liability against the [non-signatory
7 defendants] is that they exercised significant control over [his employer's] 8 employees so as to share its legal obligations, he is equitably estopped from 9 raising the [non-signatory defendants'] nonsignatory status to oppose 10 arbitrating his wage and hour claims against them. In other words, it would be unfair for Gonzalez to group the [non-signatory defendants] with [his employer] for purposes of wage and hour liability as joint employers while at the same time denying the joint relationship in order to avoid arbitration.

11 Id. at 124 (citations omitted) (emphasis added).

12 Here, similarly, Duddleston agreed to arbitrate "any and all disputes arising out
13 of, related to, or connected with [his] employment with" Mountain View. Klein Decl. ¶ 14 11 & Ex. A at 1. And, also like in Gonzalez, Duddleston's claims against the 15 Nonsignatory Defendants all are predicated upon the Nonsignatory Defendants allegedly 16 acting as his employer. See Patterson v. Domino's Pizza, LLC, 60 Cal. 4th 474, 499
17 (2014) ("[T]he existence of 'an employment relationship'" is "essential" to a FEHA
18 claim.); Khajavi v. Feather River Anesthesia Med. Grp., 84 Cal. App. 4th 32, 53 (2000)
19 ("As a matter of law, only an employer can be liable for the tort of wrongful discharge 20 in violation of public policy."); Hansen v. Cal. Dep't of Corrs. & Rehab., 171 Cal. App.
21 4th 1537, 1546 (2008) ("[A] prerequisite to asserting a Labor Code section 1102.5
22 violation is the existence of an employer-employee relationship at the time the allegedly 23 retaliatory action occurred."). Furthermore, Duddleston's NIED claim relies upon the 24 premise that the Endemol Defendants acted as his employer. See Compl. ¶ 217 (alleging 25 that the Endemol Defendants "owed Plaintiffs, as employees under their supervision, a 26 duty of care not to subject them to discrimination, harassment, and/or retaliatory 27 behavior") (emphasis added). Finally, Duddleston's IIED claim is merely derivative of 28 his other, employment-related claims alleged in the Complaint. See id. at ¶ 209 ("The

1 misconduct . . . described herein was outrageous and extreme and transcended the 2 bounds of human decency.”) (emphasis added).

3 To this end, Duddleston himself alleges that “[a]t all relevant times herein, each
4 of the Defendants was the agent, servant, employee, employer, joint-venturer, partner,
5 and/or alter ego of each of the named Defendants” and that he was an “employee[] of 51
6 Minds as an alter ego of Mountain View and Endemol Shine.” Id. at ¶¶ 28–29.
7 Accordingly, as the Court of Appeal found in Gonzalez, in seeking to evade arbitration
8 with the Nonsignatory Defendants Duddleston unfairly tries to have his cake and eat it too.
9 Duddleston wants the Nonsignatory Defendants to be a “joint-venturer, partner, and/or 10 alter ego” with Mountain View for liability purposes but disclaims that purported
11 employer relationship when it comes to enforcing the Agreement. The Court should reject
12 this gamesmanship and compel Duddleston’s claims against all the Endemol Defendants 13 to arbitration.

14 C. The Agreement Is Neither Procedurally Nor Substantively
15 Unconscionable And, Therefore, Must Be Enforced.

16 Under California law, a contract is enforceable unless it is both procedurally and 17 substantively unconscionable. See Armendariz, 24 Cal. 4th at 114 (emphasis added).
18 Here, there are no grounds for revocation of the Agreement on the basis of 19 unconscionability.

20 1. The Agreement Is Not Procedurally Unconscionable.

21 Procedural unconscionability “focuses on whether there is ‘oppression’ arising 22 from an inequality of bargaining power or ‘surprise’ arising from buried terms in a 23 complex printed form.” McManus v. CIBC World Mkts. Corp., 109 Cal. App. 4th 76, 24 87 (2003). “Surprise involves the extent to which the terms of the bargain are hidden 25 in a prolix printed form drafted by a party in a superior bargaining position.” Serafin v.
26 Balco Props. Ltd., LLC, 235 Cal. App. 4th 165, 177 (2015). Oppression, on the other 27 hand, “arises from an inequality of bargaining power which results in no real 28

1 negotiation and an absence of meaningful choice.” Id.

2 Here, the Agreement involves no “surprise.” It is a two-page document printed
3 in legible text. See Klein Decl. ¶ 11 & Ex. A.

4 Likewise, there is no evidence of “oppression.” In the employment context, even 5 a contract of adhesion, absent any “substantively unconscionable or otherwise invalid”
6 terms, presents minimal oppression. Vo v. Tech. Credit Union, 108 Cal. App. 5th 632,
7 643 (2025) (quotations omitted); see also id. (finding “a minimal degree of procedural 8 unconscionability” even where the plaintiff “was required to sign the agreement as a 9 condition of employment”). Thus, the fact that Duddleston may have entered into the 10 Agreement as a condition of his employment does not establish any material degree of 11 procedural unconscionability.

12 2. The Agreement Is Not Substantively Unconscionable.

13 Procedural unconscionability must be coupled with substantively
14 unconscionable terms to invalidate an arbitration agreement. See Roman v. Super. Ct., 15 172 Cal. App. 4th 1462, 1471 (2009) (“[P]rocedural unconscionability alone does not 16 render an agreement unenforceable. There must also be some measure of substantive 17 unconscionability.”). Here, because any procedural unconscionability is nonexistent or 18 minimal if at all, Duddleston must demonstrate a substantial degree of substantive
19 unconscionability to avoid enforcement. See Enciso v. Staffmark Inv., LLC, 2023 WL
20 11195798, at *4 (C.D. Cal. Sept. 26, 2023) (finding that “a higher level of substantive 21 unconscionability is required to render the contract unenforceable” where plaintiff did 22 not show a significant amount of procedural unconscionability, even though contract
23 was one of adhesion); Serafin, 235 Cal. App. 4th at 181 (“Under the sliding-scale
24 approach, [the plaintiff] is obligated to make a strong showing of substantive 25 unconscionability to render the arbitration provision unenforceable.”).

26 The substantive element of unconscionability is concerned with whether a contract
27 imposes “overly harsh” or “one-sided” results. Armendariz, 24 Cal. 4th at 114 (citations omitted). However, complete bilaterality is not required. Rather, to be enforceable, an arbitration agreement need only reflect a “modicum of bilaterality.” Id. at 117.

Here, the Agreement satisfies this low standard. Both Duddleston and his employer (i.e., Mountain View) are bound to submit claims to arbitration, subject to the same rules and procedures. See McManus, 109 Cal. App. 4th at 101 (finding no substantive unconscionability where the arbitration agreement’s governing rules “mutually bind the parties to arbitration”). As numerous courts have recognized, the applicable AAA rules—i.e., AAA’s Employment Arbitration Rules and Mediation Procedures—provide a fair mechanism for the adjudication of employment-related claims. See, e.g., Brennan v. Opus Bank, 796 F.3d 1125 (9th Cir. 2015) (affirming arbitration agreement that incorporated AAA rules); Mendoza v. QVC, Inc., 2021 WL 859998 (C.D. Cal. Mar. 8, 2021) (same).

Because the Agreement lacks either procedural or substantive unconscionability, no basis exists for refusing to enforce it.

3. Even If Some Portion Of The Agreement Were Objectionable,
This Court Must Sever The Offensive Portion And Enforce
The Remainder Of The Agreement.

A court should sever offending provisions from an arbitration agreement unless it is “‘permeated’ by unconscionability.” Armendariz, 24 Cal. 4th at 122; see also Nickson v. Shemran, Inc., 90 Cal. App. 5th 121, 130 (2023) (severing unenforceable provision from arbitration agreement because defendant “is entitled to enforce other terms of the Agreement, unless they are invalid for some independent reason”). As discussed above, there is nothing unconscionable in the Agreement. Yet, even if there were, the Agreement is far from “permeated” with any alleged unconscionability. Therefore, even if some aspect or clause of the Agreement could be deemed unconscionable in some respect, it should be severed and the remainder of the Agreement should be enforced in full.

1 D. After Compelling Arbitration, The Court Should Stay Duddleston's
2 Claims.

3 Upon granting this Motion, the Court should stay Duddleston's claims in their 4 entirety. See Smith v. Spizzirri, 601 U.S. 472, 478 (2024); see also Gould v. Hyundai
5 Motor Co., 2025 WL 26806, at *13 (C.D. Cal. Jan. 3, 2025) (staying case pending
6 arbitration).

7 IV. CONCLUSION.

8 For the foregoing reasons, the Court should compel to binding arbitration each 9 and every one of Duddleston's claims in accordance with his valid, enforceable, and 10 irrevocable Agreement. Thereafter, all proceedings in this Court relating to 11 Duddleston's claims must be stayed pending the outcome of the arbitration.
